24 December 1830

Dear Jackson

I enclose you the reply of the first Lord of the admiralty by which I conclude that the King has settled the question.

If you are of this opinion, pray consider how we shall proceed.

I know means of settling the question, but I should not like to put it in practice of there is a chance of success by an ordinary way.

Believe me ever
most sincerely yours
Cochrane